

Abstract

Hot plug modules comprising processors, memory, and/or I/O hubs may be added to and removed from a running computing device without rebooting the running computing device. The hot plug modules and computing device comprise hot plug 5 interfaces that support hot plug addition and hot plug removal of the hot plug modules.